ALBERT FILLY TAKES THE VERNAL

STAKES IN A GALLOP. sweet Tooth at Long Odds Wins the Racing Solling Stakes-Kamara Defeats Arden by a Head in a Rattling Finish-Contend

Provides an Upset-Three Favorites Win. In spite of the success of three favorites Sheepshead Bay yesterday afternoon, the talent received bumps enough to send many a man home vowing that he would never make a bet again At least two of the upsets were particularly distressing, because after they had occurred the talent, realized that both winners should have been played-Contend, 8 to 1, and Sweet Tooth, 12 to 1, were evidently overlooked, hough there were numerous joyful individuals who caught them both. In the Vernal Stakes for two-year-old fillies at e furlongs those who had not permitted Featherstone's Albert-Hoodoo filly, Hatasoo, to escape them, reaped a harvest Two weeks ago Hatasoo covered this distance in 58 2-5, which was a new record for the course. That was an excellent guide to form and the shrewd bettors rushed into the ring, finding there plenty of 5 to 2. So strong was the play on Hatasoo that her iosing price was 2 to 1, equal favorite with Hitchcock, Jr's, Rossignol, which because of the engagement of Shaw to ride and the fact that the filly figured well in the handlosppers' books, had ruled first choice. Luciline was third selection, with the others

O'Connor had to take a tight hold on the But she was four lengths in front of Rossignol at the quarter pole and that appeared o settle the race for afterward the Albert filly galloped along to suit herself and won with consummate ease by three lengths. Disadvantage, 8 to 1, caught Rossignol at the bend in the track and took the place from Mr. Hitchcock's filly by half a length. The winner's time was 1:00 3-5. The Racing Selling Stakes for three-year-at all kinds of long prices Eight went to the post and they were sent away in fine style. Hatasoo hit up such a fast gait that ids at six furlongs was among other things serious body blow for the Tammany Hall politicians. Frank Parrell's Charaxus colt. Col. Padden, was the tip passed around. Shaw had the mount and 8 to 5 was the ruling nuotation. At this price a lot of money toated into the ring and the layers took it filly Glennellie was another supposedly good thing and she was heavily backed from 5 to 2 to 11 to 5. Annie Thompson was reduced from sixes to fives. In the meantime, J. H. McCormick's Sweet Tooth, which won the other day at long odds, was neglected, so many sources of the that the other day at long odds, was neglected, so many sources of the that the other day at long odds. H-and kept it, too. David Gideon's erratio to 11 to 5. Annie Thompson was reduced from sixes to fives. In the meantline, J. H. McCornick's Sweet Tooth, which won the other day at long odds, was neglected, so much so that the coit's price was raised from eights to twelves. When the flag fell, Annie much so that the colt's price was raised from eights to twelves. When the flag fell, Annie Thompson showed the way for a quarter of a mile with Glennellie and Sweet Tooth following close. Col. Fadden at that stage was a trailer. In another furlong Sweet Tooth had wrested the lead from Annie Thompson and, thought Walsh sat perfectly still, McCormick's colt simply galloped away from the others. Col. Padden came through in the stretch but Sweet Tooth was three lengths ahead of him at the wire. Bedeck was third a length back.

The handloap at a mile and three furiongs, which concluded the programme, provided not only a great finish, but also helped to pull many hard-luck bettors out of the hole. Clarence H. Mackay's $10,000 Kamara was the favorite, being played down from 2 to 1 to 8 to 5. Kamara carried top weight 120 pounds. Arden, with only 90, was backed steadily at 7 to 2, especially in the place books. The Amazon went begging at sevens. Arden broke away quickly when the barrier went up. He had three lengths over The Amazon, with Kamara third a half length back, at the three-quarter pole, Arden was still running swiftly and easily when he led the field into the stretch. Odom went to work on Kamara fives. There was also a good investment on Byrne of Roscrea. It was a fair start for all, with Bonner out in front after the first scramble, Shaw took no chances with his mount but kept him hustling along so that, though Gunfre and Alibert were hard ridden under the whip they could not get up. Bonner won by a length, with Gunfre a neck better than Alibert. J. B. Haggin's Watercress colt, Water Boy was full of speed for half the distance and then dropped back, finishing a length behind the favorite.

In the second race at one mile Shaw was again in evidence with Thomas Monahan's Galore colt. Contend, 8 to 1. Senator McCarren's Bluff was tipped as the proper play for the Tammanyites and they went down the line, forcing the St. Blaise colt's price down from 5 to 2 to 2 to 1. Lucky Star was second choice at 16 to 5, Contend going back two points in the betting. Shaw took Contend out in front with a pace that was a killer. Bluff gave chase gamely, but it was of no use as Contend beat Senator McCarren's colt in a drive by half a length, Bluff heading out Lucky Star. Contend's time was 1:39 3-5. Value True fell after leaving the post.

The handicap hurdle race at a mile and three-quarters was carried off by Cephalaigia backed from fours to twos and closing favorite. But it was necessary to drive him hard after the last hurdle had been cleared in order to defeat Holland, 7 to 1, by a neck. Hopeful a 40 to 1 shot, after leading for the greater part of the distance, was third. Finnegan who rode Matt Simpson, fell from his mount while passing the grand stand the first time.

Boxing is booming at South Africa just now judging from the large crowd which attended the recent bout between Tom Duggan of Australia and Jack Grace of New York
Duggan and Grace, according to the London Mirror of Life, met at Natal, South Africa, on May 4 in a 20-round "go" for $500 a side and a purse. Grace, who in this country has not been regarded as much of a fighter has been doing good work abroad and in London he won several battles. He went to South Africa about three months ago and immediately upon his arrival made a match with Duggan. The fight was a victous one. In the first two rounds Grace looked all over a winner. But in the third round he went all to pieces. In this round he was knocked down four times. Finally in the fifth after being floored repeatedly, he pluckily reguined his feet. Duggan then landed the right heavily on the jaw and put the American to sleep.

Another of these outbreaks of rowdyism in professional baseball, which, under the present day regime have been all too frequent, occurred yesterday. Its scene was the Polo Grounds and it took place in the progress of the game between the New York and Chicago teams. Jack Doyle, the Chicago captain, and a spectator in the right field bleachers, who had aroused Doyle's ire, presumably guying him, were the persons engaged in the rumpus. From the beginning of the game almost Doyle was the target for remarks hurled at him by patrons of the

Just what it was that made Doyle lose his temper could not be heard in the grandstand, but as the former New Yorker was walking toward his bench at the end of the fifth inning he turned and spoke sharply to a man in the bleachers who was standing up man in the bleachers who was standing up in the passage way at the foot of the tier seats. The latter did not subside and Doyle, who was evidently getting angrier every minute, made a straight for him. There was a man at the bat for the Chicagos by this time, but the attention of everybody was on Doyle and the other person at the time.

Rowdyism in its true light was shown by Furkett at a Washington Park yesterday afternoon, and it was not until he was marched out the field by three policemen that the game was continued. Burkett, who is acting captain in the absence of Donovan, kicked at everthing. The climax came in the fifth inning, when Padden forced McGann at second. The decision against Padden was disputed by Burkett. He was ordered out of the game, but when the side was retired started to take his place in left field. Schneider told him he could not play, but he still kept on arguing. Schneider took out his watch and started to count off the seconds, when Burkett called his men from the field and it looked as if he would for left the game. He became so abusive that Umpire Schneider called on the police to remove him and after this was done the game went on. The game was a long drawn, out affair and should have been won by the Champions. The score:

Must Win First Two Heats "in a Canter" to Have a Chance for Grand Challenge Cup.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN.

LONDON, July 1.— In an article on the Henley Royal Regatta, to be held on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week, the Pall Mall Gazette says to-day that in the Pennsylvania's quarters that Cornell. Mall Gazette says to-day that in the Pennsylvania's quarters that Cornell. While inside position in the freshing reached because the tide runs down on the shores an hour or an hour and half before it turns to the finest university crew that they can put upon the water. The Pennsylvanians, the paper adds, mean to make a big bid for the Grand Challenge Cup, but it is practically certain that they must win the first two heats in a canter." Both of the metropolitan crews entered for the cup—the London Rowing Club and the Thames Rowing Club—are held to belamentably below the standard this year, and the University of Pennsylvania and Cornell. Weeding-Out Sale of Mr. Whitney's Yearlings and Two-Year-Olds.

A weeding-out sale of yearlings and two-year-olds from the stable of W. C. Whitney was held in the Fasig-Tipton Company's paddocks before the races began yesterday at sheepshead Bay. This was the first time of the fact of the fact that not one of them had any engagements and of were also unbroken, although they were of relatives to well-known performers, had a sepressing effect, as most of the youngsters were sold cheap. The two-year-old Trump brought the top price, T. Hitchcock, Jr. securing him for $2.100. The three-year-old Collegian was sold to W. Jennings for $1.700. James Shields gave $1.525 each for two year-ings, one being by Meddler-Ruperta, a half-sister to Approval, and the other a half-sister to The kentuckian and The Puritan.

ON THE EVE OF THE RACES RIVAL OARSHEN TAKE IT EASY.

-Little Betting on To-day's Results-Views of the Different Coaches-A Dispute Over the Tide-Tachts Are Arriving on the Scene POUGHREEPSIE, July 1.-So intense was the heat to-day that the coaches of the crews in training for the races on the Hudson tomorrow delayed giving the oarsmen practice as much as possible. The only exception was Pennsylvania, whose oarsmen are heatproof. The rival colors of Cornell, Wisconsin, Columbia, Syracuse, Pennsylvania and Georgetown floated limply from the staffs at the oathouses. The followers of the crews have been coming to town all afternoon. A big delegation of Columbia sympathizers arrived this afternoon and filled the corridors of the Nelson House until it was too crowded to move about comfortably. In the party were a number of women. To-night the river is beginning to take on a lively air. Small yachts and sailboats are coming up the river and dropping anchor along the police lines marking the course. Mr. Williams's yacht Embla, flying the Columbia colors, is anchored opposite the Cornell quarters. A short distance up-stream is A. E. Towers's Earl King. To the cutters Manhattan and Hudson.

The town is taking on a boat race atmosphere. A crowd of rooters for Wisconsin arrived to-day. Among those who will cheer the Badgers on will be Phil King, the football coach; Graduate Manager C. H. Fitzpatrick, Assistant Coach William Sutherland, John Hickey, Phil Allen, '99: T. Lyman Henry Cochems, Profs. D. C. Jackson, C. R. Van Hise and A. W. Richeter.

It was understood that Gov. Odell would riew the races from the train, but he has changed his mind and with a party of official friends will come up in the quarantine boat Roswell P. Flower. The Governor's son Herbert is a student at Columbia. Not as many Cornell men are here as has been the rule in past years. Rev. Father Whitney, President of Georgetown University, Richard Johnson and other enthusiasts from Wash ington, expect to see the races. The Pennsylvania delegation began to come in to-day and the Quakers will have plenty of friends on hand. A good-sized Syracuse party has been here ever since the arrival of the crews and another string of supporters is expected to-night. Two events were given by the social set of Poughkeepsie to-night in honor of the crewtmen and their friends. One was a ball and the other a concert by the Columof the crewthen and their friends. One was a ball and the other a concert by the Columbia Glee Club.

It was learned to-day that John M. Francis, over whose entry in the singles there was a row in the Cornell camp, has gone to Boston and will not see the races to-morrow. He will compete in the regatta of the National Association of Oarsmen on July 4 and will then return to Troy to row in the meet of the Laureate Boat Club.

There has been very little betting. Cornell men say they will have pienty of money here to-morrow and will back their crew. C. H. Fitzpatrick, the Wisconsin graduate manager, made a wager at even money this afternoon that both Wisconsin and Cornell would beat Columbia. Several freak bets are told of, and sentiment is cutting the usual figure, but no line has yet been laid showing the real odds on the crews. The Badgers are 'laying low." Coach O'Dea when asked this morning to express an opinion on the prospects of his crew repiled:

"I am no prophet. We prefer to demonstrate first, and if we don't make out then Heorgetown's performance to-morrow depends whether the Washington University will have a professional tutor of aquatics next year.

Coach Smallwood who has divided with E. R. Sweetland the work of coaching Syracuse, said: "I think we have a very good chance of finishing last to-morrow. The 'Varsity may beat out one or two of the other crews but I doubt it."

"We have had a short practice season and have had difficulty in getting the men out. Whatever the result we will not be discouraged. One of the Syracuse shells does not work very well and the Columbia contingent has offered to lend one of the r shells for use to-morrow. The youths who will fight for the honor and glory of Cornell to-morrow did as little as they could to-day. The weight of the men has dropped to a figure below what Conch Courtney desired, which has also been the rule with the other crews Courtney has been trying to train the Varsity carsinen to an average of 162 pounds and he said this afternoon that he feared if the men were weighed they would show an average of 160 or 150 h.

The followers of Columbia remain confident their crews will make a good showing. Whetever the result of the race, it is plain that the Columbia eights make a better impression than they ever have before on the Hudson

"When you consider the fast company Columbia is in," said an old Columbia crew man to-day, "it would be a victory for the Blue and White to finish third in the Varsity race." race" Capt. Stowe of the Columbia freshmen, was indisposed to-day and it is doubtful if he can row to-morrow.

O'Dea said he understood that the tide would be weak at the hours set for the races to morrow. He remarked that he thought twas a mistake to try to row all the races on one day, especially if by so doing it became necessary to start some of them before the full run of the tide.

At Pennsylvania quarters the carsmen accessary to start some of them before a practice puil the men took a dip in the Hudson. The way the Pennsylvania men take to water gives a shock to Coach Courtney, who will not let the Cornell men nearer the river than the seats in their shells. Courtney thinks swimming has a tendency to weaken the carsmen.

NEWS OF THE WHEELMEN. Fast Riding on Improved Track in Madison Square Garden.

to expectation there was no paced race and although many of the leading professionals although many of the leading proressionals took part the races were tame and uninteresting. In spite of the limited clothing of the spectators they sweltered in a terrific heat. The management announced that the track had been rebanked and was at an angle of 50 degrees on the corners. The temperature of the Garden was not announced, but some guesses placed it at 150 degrees.

The improvement in the track had a noticeable effect on the times.

Two of the trial heats in the half-mile pro-

Freeman of Portland. Ore, led until the straight, practically making pace for another Westerner. Hardy Downing of San José. The latter won in the dash for the line by a foot in one ninute and four-fifths of a second.

The Bridgenort team falled to show up for the intercity pursuitrace and a pair from Brooklyn took its place. The Buffalonians, Bardgett and Zurbrick, rode all around their rivals. In the first heat Zurbrick caught the Newark team in seven and a half laps and in the final Bardgett went out in front and Yan Cott, in seven and three-quarter laps.

Many of the amateurs who started in the five-mile lap race could not go a fast enough pace to hold themselves on the track Falls were frequent, but no one was seriously hurt. The Buffalo riders again carried off the honors, Bardgett winning, while Zurbrich took third place.

Tom Cooper, 20 yards, fell on the first lap of his trial heat in the one-mile professional handleap. Lester Wilson, Pittsburg, and John T. Fisher, Chicago, were the back markers in the first, both riding from 40 yards. Fisher looked as if he would get through but was shirt out a lap and a half from the finish and Tom Butler of Cambridsport, so yards, won by 10 yards in the fast time of 1 minute, 55 4-5 seconds.
